

ABSTRACT

A method of using a water-based boron-containing suspension as a source of boron additive is disclosed. The method includes adding the suspension into a mixing
5 or reaction zone during the preparation of starch-based adhesives. The suspension includes a boron compound and at least one suspension aid.